

Anti-trust rules alone should protect this new venue of media radio / tv has become so monopolized by big business that citizens seek reprieve anywhere they can find it - which is satellite for the time being don't protect big business interest at the expense of the overwhelming public interest

Public interest outweighs the desires of a limited number of shareholders within big media corporations that lobby to restrict this new media- you have an obligation to fight for the average citizens benefit and quality of life
